

Photography Contest

CSIR-CIMAP is delighted to announce a Photography Competition on Medicinal and Aromatic Plants (MAPs). Over the last few years we have seen a variety of images of MAPs that have attracted public attention towards the uses of these wonderful and valuable plants which serve mankind for their health and well being. Many of these plants that contribute to the overall health of a large majority of world population are incredibly beautiful and largely unseen. In an effort to create awareness about the usefulness of these plants and an urgent need to conserve them, we invite you to send us the most striking images you can find to help us capture the beauty of MAPs to support our efforts on world class research and conservation work.
